

One of the shortest articles¹ is followed by another citation². Here is another reference. Sometimes you need to cite more than one³

References

- HAKKIO, Craig: Does the exchange rate follow a random walk? A Monte Carlo study of four tests for a random walk, in: Journal of International Money and Finance 2 (1986), 221–229.
- LANDER, LJ / PARKIN, TR: Counterexample to Euler’s conjecture on sums of like powers, in: Bull. Amer. Math. Soc 6 (1966), 1079.
- ULMER VERLAGLOWRY, O: Protein measurement with Folin-phenol reagent, in: J Biol Chem (1951), 265275.

¹LANDER, LJ / PARKIN, TR: Counterexample to Euler’s conjecture on sums of like powers, in: Bull. Amer. Math. Soc 6 (1966), 1079.

²ULMER VERLAGLOWRY, O: Protein measurement with Folin-phenol reagent, in: J Biol Chem (1951), 265275.

³LANDER, L. / PARKIN, T.: Counterexample to Euler’s conjecture on sums of like powers (1966); ULMER VERLAGLOWRY, O: Protein measurement with Folin-phenol reagent (1951); HAKKIO, Craig: Does the exchange rate follow a random walk? A Monte Carlo study of four tests for a random walk, in: Journal of International Money and Finance 2 (1986), 221–229.